

THE VILLAGE TRIP™

For 41 years, the Cornelia Street Café was a Village fixture, a great place to relax with friends and a bottle of wine, or to write undisturbed at a corner table, fueled by excellent coffee. On its basement stage, Suzanne Vega might be trying out a new song, Oliver Sacks discussing science, or Eve Ensler directing The Vagina Monologues. David Amram played regular gigs in “the Cornelia Street Stadium.”

Michael Jacobsohn’s documentary captures the centrality of the Café to New York City’s artistic community. Its demise is a reminder to Hirsch, the son of a Holocaust survivor, of the painful loss his parents endured.

Featuring David Amram, Arturo O’Farrill, David Massengill, Suzanne Vega, Hannah Reimann, Michael Lydon, Cliff Eberhardt, Daniel Levy, Daniel Cainer, and Frank Messina.

The screening will be followed by a Q&A with Robin Hirsch and Michael Jacobsohn.
